

ONEPlanET Policy & Civil Society Synergy Webinar

On 17 September 2025, ONEPlanET hosted the Policy & Civil Society Synergy Webinar, a dynamic conversation on how policymakers and civil society organizations can co-create enabling frameworks for sustainable Water–Energy–Food (WEF) solutions in Africa.

The webinar brought together leaders, practitioners, and advocates to explore how policy design, community-driven innovation, and inclusive governance can break silos and drive lasting impact within the WEF Nexus.

Featured Speakers

The dialogue featured an inspiring lineup of speakers:

- Dr. Priscilla Achakpa – Founder & Global Lead, Women Environmental Programme (WEP)
- Kelvin Muli – CEO, African Network for Climate Action
- Dr. Anderson Kehbila – Programme Leader, Stockholm Environment Institute Africa Centre
- Ikal Ang'elei – Founder & Executive Director, Friends of Lake Turkana

Key Themes Explored

Discussions focused on:

- Integrated policy design and implementation to bridge sector divides
- Grassroots-driven WEF innovations influencing national policies
- Inclusive models that amplify the voices of women, youth, and rural communities
- Governance approaches that align policy, finance, and community action

The webinar underscored the importance of collaboration between policymakers and civil society in shaping Africa's sustainable future — ensuring that solutions are not only innovative but also inclusive and community-centered.

Through initiatives like this, ONEPlanET continues its mission of empowering stakeholders across Africa with knowledge, tools, and partnerships to advance sustainable development through the WEF Nexus.
